

Theorizing the Dynamics of Social Processes,
edited by Harry F Dahms & Lawrence Hazelrigg

Introduction, Harry F Dahms & Lawrence Hazelrigg

Part I: The Dynamics of Process between Social Science and Social Theory

The Dynamics of Process: A Propaedeutic
Introduction, Lawrence Hazelrigg

Affinities between the Project of Dynamic Theory and the Tradition of Critical Theory:
A Sketch, Harry F Dahms

Part II: Theorizing Process: Class, Social Inequality,
And a New Reading of Marx

History and the "Processing" of Class in Social Theory, Joseph Maslen

Domination, Contention, and the Negotiation of Inequality: A Theoretical Proposal,
Viviane Brachet-Márquez

The Labor-Value Relation and Its Transformations: Revisiting Marx's Value Theory,
Paul Paolucci

Part III: Theorizing "Globalization"

Globalization In and Out: Or, "How Can There Be a Constructivist Theory of Globalization?"
Jean-Sébastien Guy

Conceptualizing Globalization in Terms of Flows,
P J Rey and George Ritzer

Part IV: Theorizing Two Specific Social Processes: Anti-Semitism and Architecture

Why Nazified Germans Killed Jewish People: Insights from Agent-Based Modeling of Genocidal Actions,
Robert B Smith

Economy and Field in the Rise of Postmodern Architecture,
David Gartman

